

a 2002 0107

The invention relates to the field of electronics, namely to convolvers.

The convolver consists of a delay line, to the contacts of which there are connected external semiconductor diodes. Novelty of the invention consists in that in the capacity of delay line it is used the acoustoelectronic cryotron with variable commutation time.

Claims: 1

Fig.: 2