

95-0075

The invention relates to the fire-prevention technique and in particular to the extinguishing the fire of solid combustible materials.

The method of fire solid combustible materials extinguishing is realized by the feeding of dispersed water jet.

New is the fact that the water feeding is realized under the burning zone.