

98-0073

The invention relates to the microbiology, and namely to the reagent for determination of staphylococcus fibrinogen-affinity.

The reagent for determination of staphylococcus fibrinogen-affinity according to the invention includes maiz smut Ustilago maydis chlamidospores suspension in concentration of 0,5...1,0 vol.%, mechanically sensitized with lyophilized fibrinogen.

The technical result of the invention consists in proposed reagent sensibilization increasing.

Claims: 1