

a 2007 0280

The invention refers to dentistry, namely to hygienic substances for oral cavity care.

The tooth elixir comprises the following components, mass %: extract of Spirulina platensis cyanobacterium strain biomass calculated for dry substance 0.1...0.5; flavor additive 1.0...2.5; odorant 0.05...0.20; ethyl alcohol 45.0...60.0; water the rest.

In another variant the tooth elixir comprises extract of Spirulina platensis cyanobacterium strain biomass calculated for dry substance 0.1...0.5 and extract of Flores Calendule calculated for dry substance 0.5...3.0, in the aforesaid ratio of other components.

In the third variant the tooth elixir comprises extract of Spirulina platensis cyanobacterium strain biomass calculated for dry substance 0.1...0.5, extract of Flores Calendule calculated for dry substance 0.5...3.0 and extract of Armoracia rusticana Lam roots calculated for dry substance 0.5...1.5 in the aforesaid ratio of other components.

Claims: 5