

The utility model relates to the suspended handrails for vehicles bearing publicity or any other information.

The handrail, according to the first variant, includes two fastened together pieces 1, made with the possibility of placement between them of an information-publicity sheet. Each piece has a sector 3, made of transparent material, in the region of placement of the information-publicity sheet.

The handrail, according to the second variant, includes a plate of transparent material 4, made with the possibility of fixation of the information-publicity sheet. The plate is made detachable with the possibility of displacement over the handrail surface by means of horizontal guide skids 5 and of fixation of the information-publicity sheet between the handrail surface and the transparent plate.

Claims: 2

Fig.: 3

